

VOX RECEIVES APPROVAL FOR NASDAQ SECONDARY LISTING

TORONTO, CANADA – October 5, 2022 – Vox Royalty Corp. (TSXV: VOX) (OTCQX: VOXCF) (“Vox” or the “Company”), a returns focused mining royalty company, is pleased to announce that its common shares have been approved for listing and trading on The Nasdaq Stock Market (“Nasdaq”). Vox expects its common shares will commence trading on the Nasdaq by the end of October under the ticker symbol “VOXR”. Vox’s common shares will continue to trade on the TSX Venture Exchange under the ticker symbol “VOX”.

Kyle Floyd, Chief Executive Officer stated, “Vox has fundamentally transformed since its initial public listing in May 2020 and our secondary listing on the Nasdaq represents another step to unlock shareholder value. With the Nasdaq listing, we expect enhanced trading liquidity in the US market along with a broader base of institutional and retail investor engagement, as we continue delivering on our differentiated strategy of disciplined growth and sector-leading returns on royalty acquisitions. We remain confident that the fundamental value created by Vox’s proprietary royalty acquisition model will eventually be reflected in our share price, particularly with enhanced liquidity on the Nasdaq.”

As outlined in the Company’s press release on March 10, 2022, Vox anticipates that a secondary Nasdaq listing will provide further exposure to the US trading and investor market and ultimately improve the Company’s overall profile and enhance shareholder value. Analysis conducted by Vox management and its financial advisors suggests companies with secondary listings on US main board exchanges have historically resulted in improved trading liquidity for other small and medium-cap royalty companies.

Concurrent with the commencement of trading on the Nasdaq, Vox intends to cease the quotation of its common shares on the OTCQX. While shareholders are not required to take any action, Vox recommends that holders who bought their shares on the OTCQX monitor their institution/brokerage account to ensure their holdings are correctly reflected in respect of the listing on the Nasdaq.

About Vox
